

EDUCATION WEEK

EDITORIAL

WEBINARS

TOPIC	WORKING TITLE	TIMEFRAME	DETAILS
Technology	Principals Tackle Classroom Tech Challenges	April 15/ May 15, 2018	An overview of the results from a survey by the EdWeek Research Center examining the attitudes/beliefs around common classroom EdTech challenge of a sample of K-12 school principals.
Technology	Tech Counts 2018: What Does EdTech Leadership Look Like Within a District?	April 15/ May 15, 2018	In this webinar, we'll take a hard look at the challenges principals run into working with district leadership.
Technology	Expert Ed-Tech Advice for Principals	April 15/ May 15, 2018	In this webinar, our guests will pool their best advice to provide listeners guidance in personalized learning, media literacy, managing students' screen time, and preparing students for the workforce.
STEM	Growing STEM Teachers	February 2018	Join us for a deeper look at how STEM academies can become pipelines between regional universities and districts, how support from the New Teacher Center can make a difference, and how participants in these academies receive a ton of support as they go through the licensure process.
Special Education	Why Do Spec Ed Teachers Really Leave?	February 2018	What can school district and building-level administrators do to stem the flow of Spec Ed teachers exiting the profession?
Growth Mindset	How Can We Leverage the Research Behind Growth Mindset to Impact Schools in Responsible Ways	TBD	What does new research tell us about the developments in the area of learning mindsets and what it means for student growth? Leading researchers will shed light on new findings.
Curriculum	Building A Curriculum Where the Political Rubber Meets the Academic Road	TBD	From Black Lives Matter to Charlottesville, educators have had to grapple with the impact of real-life events nationwide and how to dissect them with students in schools. In this webinar, we'll explore how school district leaders can help your students and teachers make sense of it all.
Teacher PD	Micro-credentialing and the Teacher Recertification Puzzle	February 2018	Tennessee is one of a handful of states experimenting with "microcredentials"—earned by teachers who master specific components of instruction — within their continuing education systems.
Teacher PD	Aligning PD Mandates with Teacher Learning Plans	February 2018	All states require teachers to take classes or credits to maintain a license, but they're not always targeted at school priorities, or even teachers' needs. Education Week will discuss the successes, challenges, and growing pains of this new approach.
Leaders to Learn From	Leadership in Districtwide Improvement	February 2018 – April 2018	In this webinar, we'll look more deeply at school improvement and how it can change the academic, social, and emotional trajectory for all students. Our guest, Emmanuel Caulk, has restored confidence in the school system he leads with a sweeping improvement plan that has focused heavily on fostering broad community support and zeroing in on the needs of students who struggle the most.
Leaders to Learn From	Leadership in Elevating Student Voice	February 2018 – April 2018	Joe Meloche, Leaders To Learn From 2018, has made student opinion and feedback a central part of his strategy to get the best performance out of his already high-flying suburban district. In this webinar, he'll explore those districtwide results.
Leaders to Learn From	Leadership in Equity for All Students	February 2018 – April 2018	Equity is a term thrown around a lot these days and while the buzz word has many meanings to many people, grounding in action is pivotal for districtwide success. In this webinar Susanna Cordova, 2018 Leaders To Learn From, will share her strategies on how you can impact academic achievement using equity as your lodestar.
Schools & the Workforce	How Can K-12 Schools Build a Diverse Teacher Workforce for the Students and Schools of the Future?	February 2018	In this webinar, we will look at the importance of having a diverse teaching workforce, what teacher preparation programs and K-12 schools are doing to change the staffing equation, what schools can do attract high-quality teachers of all backgrounds, and how to support and retain diverse teachers.
Facilities & Technology	K-12 School Planning: What to do When Your Leadership Team is on the Hot Seat	February/March 2018	Together with our guests, our reporter will take a close look at one district going through the school planning process and those who find themselves on the hot seat.
Facilities & Technology	Saving School Budgets With Unique Approaches to Facilities Management	February/March 2018	Join our reporter and one innovative district where they are working now to make K-12 schools cost-efficient, learning centers—where teachers can gain unique instructional opportunities and their students can absorb educational lessons that motivate and engage.
Personalized Learning	What the Research Says About Personalized Learning in the Classroom	TBD	In this webinar, a lead researcher and a school district leader who has developed a districtwide approach to personalized learning will summarize and compare key findings, dig in on the practical challenges that district and school leaders can expect, and offer tips on how to approach personalized-learning implementation.
Personalized Learning	What States are Doing to Integrate Personalized Learning Into Their ESSA Plans and Budgets	TBD	In this webinar, our guests will draw on their own experiences, and explore the role of states in moving the personalized-learning movement forward. They will also lay out some key levers at states' disposal, and who is using them.